4
CLAIMS

1. A method for scheduling scare, nonrenewable resources, the method comprising:

defining a state vector;

defining a cost-to-go function; and

using Bellman's principle of optimality, optimizing the scheduling by optimally ordering the resources by a weighting function.